CABERNET SAUVIGNON BOULDER FALLS Knights Valley

"The 2013 Cabernet Sauvignon Boulder Falls is another painfully extracted, rich, full-bodied wine with enormous extract, massive body and richness in a wine seemingly built for 30 or more years of cellaring. Impatient connoisseurs and consumers not willing to defer gratification should steer far clear of this blockbuster, which really requires a decade of cellaring. Kudos to Delectus for making wines that ultimately will prove the magnificent aging potential of what they're doing in Knights Valley."

TASTING NOTES

The bold and dense 2013 Boulder Falls is classic Delectus, with an opulent, very densely-woven structure. Sweet oak, ultra-ripe black cherry and raspberry add complexity and depth to this herculean effort. This wine will undoubtedly be capable of 20+ years of time in the bottle.

This vintage was sourced from a rocky hillside vineyard perched above the fogline in Knights Valley. There the terroir is conducive to making inky, concentrated wines of great distinction. That is the essence of Delectus.
