Wine Spectator JULY 2016

90 Much to admire in this rich, savory, layered and well-fruited effort, featuring bold dark berry, anise, mocha and jazzy oak, full-framed, deep and persistent. Drink now. 4,570 cs. - J.L.

California GRAPEVINE
JULY 2016

HIGHLY RECOMMENDED Medium-dark purplish ruby; black cherry and blackberry fruit aroma with hints of vanilla, graphite, and tobacco leaf; full body; red and black fruit flavors with some initial richness in the mouthfeel, hints of dried herbs and dark chocolate, and a bit drying on the finish; full tannin; lingering aftertaste. Deserve a few more years of aging.

TO CALIFORNIA WINE
AUGUST 2016

✿ Here is a straightforward, fairly ripe Cabernet with black cherry leanings that succeeds more by virtue of its frontal richness than by any far-reaching complexity. It is full and slightly plush in feel with nominal underlying tannins for grip, and...it has enough youthful energy to ensure three or four years of positive growth and is in no danger of fading any time soon.
